This is no time for us to discuss the merit of Saks Overcoats, for we have done it daily all season. But it is emphatically a time for you to remember the merit of Saks Overcoats, for therein lies the merit of this sale. It is not these reductions alone which constitute the chief claim upon your attention, but the fact that these garments at their original prices had neither superior nor equal, nor even a step-relative, for the consistent beauty of their finish and their style. And the same holds true as to variety, for this sale is composed of full, cut-up-to-the-last-minute selections.
